

Welcome all to the University of Nairobi!

As I solemnly meditated on my message to this graduating class, my mind drifted to the things read and heard over the last few months about the University of Nairobi. I remember reading a letter

Read More